

Service Oriented Toolkit for Research Data Management Project (Research Data ToolKit RDTK)

Stakeholder Forum

Advises the operational Project Team, including identification and advice on research practitioner engagement, Research Data Management (RDM) requirements, and dissemination of RDM good practice. Receives, evaluates and progresses research community feedback. First users of pilot services and new RDM facilities.

Terms of reference:

- To represent and consult with the research community across the University
- To identify and recommend examples of good practice for the Research Data ToolKit
- To identify and recruit internal collaborators for project
- To assist with data management audits and requirements gathering
- To assist with evaluation of services provided by the project
- To identify staff development requirements
- To make recommendations to the Project Steering Group

Membership:

to include (not exclusively): two Readers/Principal Investigators from each Research Institute, two Post Graduate researchers, one senior Research Office representative, one Information Hertfordshire/RDTK representative